Adult School Offers Beginning Russian, Many Other Courses

The Carmel Adult School, offering a curriculum for life-long learning for those who wish to complete their education or who have graduated from schools of higher learning and wish an enrichment program, is adding Russian to its already extensive list of foreign languages for the second semester which starts on Monday, February 2. This class, taught by Donat Ivanovsky, who teaches Russian at the Army Language School, will meet on Monday and Wednesday evenings at 7:30 o'clock in Room 10 at the Carmel High School. A French I class, taught by Mrs. Helene Cleisz, has been meeting for three weeks on Tuesday and Thursday evenings at 7:30 o'clock in Room 13 at the Tularcitos school.

Other language classes including French, Italian and Spanish are continuations of the classes started this September, but may be entered if the student has had some previous study in these languages or are able to catch up. Adults are allowed to visit the sections one night to determine their place in the class.

Several classes that have been closed during the fall semester will be reopened for the second semester. Physical conditioning for Women, taught by Mary Jane Leach, on Monday night at 7:00 o'clock in the Carmel High School gym, and typing taught by Nihila Knight on Tuesday and Thursday at 7:00 o'clock in Room 11 at the high school are reopening. The typing class will take both beginning and advanced students.

Pre-registration is not necessary in most classes. However, in sewing, where class space is limited, your name must be added to a waiting list and you are taken on a first-come-first-served basis. The only other class where a pre-registration is necessary is a consumer education class, with lectures by local insurance people on how to buy insurance, what it covers, etc. If enough people show an interest in this class, it will be started.

The newly-installed Aetna Drive-Trainer will be used in the adult

Carmel Artists Copy One Another Says Marlinde Von Ruhs

BY BOB KALLER

One of the few residents of the United States from abroad who has not been overcome by the pervasive strength of American culture is Marlinde von Ruhs, a fresh breeze on the local Carmel painting landscape.

Marlinde, who proudly thinks of herself as a "European" first and foremost, initially came to America over a decade ago, and has spent a good portion of the intervening 10 years in this country painting.

Born in a castle—Schloss Wildshut—just outside of Salzburg, Austria, Miss von Ruhs' early years were quiet, comfortable and contemplative in a way that this country has never known. Her father was first a professional army officer. The family's time was divided almost evenly between their houses in Vienna and Salzburg, and trips abroad.

First a portrait painter exclusively, she later painted landscapes and explored all media of art but preferred oil painting. Her work was shown in Boston, New York, Chicago and on the Pacific Coast. She was a member of the Carmel Art Association and Carmel Foundation. Her home, which she built 40 years ago, was at Santa Lucia and Carmelo Streets.

Only survivors of Miss Curtis are in the East. She designated that her body should be donated to Stanford University School of Medicine.

Memorial services for Miss Curtis will be announced later.

To Marlinde, the sheltered, easy-going family life of the time seemed not too different from that led by young ladies of good family in the old days of the Austro-Hungarian Empire. Her first schooling was at Benedictine Convent; later she went to design school in Vienna. Here, all of a sudden, the outside world began to be a force to be reckoned with.

Art students were a tempestuous lot, and many of them had firm political convictions—while the remainder believed just as passionately that artists should have NO political convictions—and were willing to fight for this idea.

When the second World War broke out, in a day the calm, safe, secure world of Marlinde von Ruhs disappeared in smoke. She was bombed out of her home, close

Citizens Group To Aid School Housing Study

Carmel Unified School District Board made an agreement with the University of California Field Service Center last night for a survey of school organization and housing needs of the district for the next 10 years.

Total cost will be based on $60 a day and expenses for each staff member; $30 per day and expenses for each graduate student engaged in the study. Total cost is not to exceed $2,500.

Edgar L. Morphet and J. Chester Swanson, professors of education, will conduct the survey. Dr. Morphet was present at last night's special board meeting to elaborate on the items of the agreement. He urged the appointment of a citizens committee to work along with him and proposed that the board ask the various organizations, (P.T.A., service clubs, etc.) of the district each to choose a member to serve on a nominating committee which would in turn select the citizens committee. The citizens committee should include: two citizens from Carmel, two from Tu-

Planners Approve Gas Pumps For Fenton Plaza, Bank Of America Building

The Carmel Planning Commission voted yesterday afternoon to allow a gas station in the Carmel Plaza underground parking area. This is in C-1 zone of the business district where existing gas stations are at present non-conforming. The commission decided, however, to consider the gas station an accessory use to the parking

The commission also approved plans for a building for the Bank of America which will later be housed in the Carmel Plaza development.

Citizens crowded the council chamber and applauded the seven persons who spoke against permitting a gas station accessory use for the 171 underground parking lot planned by Carmel Plaza Company in the block fronting on Ocean Avenue between Mission and Junipero Streets. One person spoke in favor of the gas station.

Speakers against allowing the Union Oil Company gas station in the Carmel Plaza development were Gordon Campbell, representing Fred Leidig, owner of three gas station sites in Carmel, and Thomas Montgomery representing Mrs. Harriet Roberts and Countess Kinnoull; City Councilman Gunnar Norberg; gas station operator Dale Leidig; Admiral C. W. Fisher, representing the Citizens Committee; Eben Whittlesey and Rock Warman. Mrs. Patricia Hall spoke in favor.

After two hours' deliberation, commissioner Fred Keeble moved that the gas station accessory use be approved and listed the factors which motivated his motion. They were: That the gas station was inside the entrance structure of the underground parking lot; would not in this location serve the general public and that the gas station was a service facility necessary to the use of the off-street parking lot. Commissioner Herbert

Adm. Fisher Mails Letters Protesting Carmel Plaza Plans

Admiral C. W. Fisher, president of the Citizens' Committee, mailed letters yesterday to Leslie Fenton, owner of the block bounded by Ocean Avenue, Junipero, Seventh and Mission, protesting his proposed development of the property.

At the same time, Admiral Fisher addressed letters of protest to Union Oil Company, Bank of America, and I. Magnin, lessees of the proposed buildings on the Fenton Carmel Plaza.

In the letter to Fenton, Admiral Fisher stated: "Notwithstanding the good taste and pleasing appearance of your project, we feel that the ultimate bad effects of these inroads of 'big business' into Carmel would be disastrous. The businesses you are reported to be negotiating with are high class in every sense, but they are out of place here. And we realize that highly undesirable types of business could have been chosen."

"Business in Carmel," he writes, "should be limited to small, locally owned enterprises serving, principally, Carmel residents."

In the letters to I. Magnin, Union Oil Company, and Bank of America, Admiral Fisher states:

"The Citizens Committee of Carmel requests that you give consideration to other locations, namely the new shopping centers already (Continued on Page Twelve)

LEAGUE-LEADING PADRES
HOST PG FRIDAY NIGHT

Carmel High's varsity basketball team puts its newly-won CCAL B-division lead on the line at the Padre pavilion tomorrow evening with the hungry Pacific Grove Breakers providing the opposition. Coach Marty Baskin's below-par Breakers would like nothing better than to upset the high-flying Padres and jumble up the B-league race. The Breakers picked up win number one for the current season at the expense of San Lorenzo last Friday night but the victory string is apt to be abruptly halted when the PG lads run up against the classy Padres.

Carmel gained undisputed position of first place in the B-league by whipping King City at the valley school's gym last Friday night.

Veteran cagers Steve Perkins and Archie Stewart lead the comparatively small Breaker squad which has had trouble getting untracked this season. Big scorer for Coach Dan Yurkovich's all-veteran unit is Frank Wallace, a straight-shooting lefthander, who has pushed through 60 points in four league games. Frank is closely followed by big Russ Wise who could well be the best center in the B-division. Dale Dawson hasn't tallied with the consistency which he exhibited last season but he is one of the best passers on the squad. Bill Hicks has been a steady scorer and is an excellent rebounder. Top defensive player on the Padre squad is Dennis Peavey, a small scooter as basketball players go but a tenacious bulldog in a man-for-man defense.

Carmel has an excellent reserve squad which could beat most of the varsity squads in the streamlined B-league. The two Wilkin boys, John and Chris, give the reserves unusual height to go with the speed of Dave Farr, Pete Wilcox, Walt Helm, Craig Smith and Lee Harms.

Tomorrow night's lightweight game could steal the spotlight from the varsity fracas since the two midget squads are tied for first place in the limited title race. The Wavelets have dropped one game in league play, bowing to the speedy Gonzales Babes who also hold a decision over the Carmel lightweights. Gonzales also has a slice of the lead in the lightweight chase, losing only to Live Oak's scrappy squad. Coach Charley Howell's Wavelets are a swift-moving gang which likes to move from the opening whistle until the final buzzer and delights in wearing down the opposition.

Marty Baskin, son of varsity coach Marty Baskin, leads the Pacific Grove Babes from his guard position and the little all-around athlete is a cool playmaker. Bucky Boynes is the chief offensive threat for Howell's hoopsters, being a lightweight with two years' previous experience.

Coach Joe Lorincz has the Padre lights humming with championship precision now and tomorrow night's lightweight fuss shapes up as dead even. The Carmel Babe starting five will probably be Mike Draper, leading scorer, Al Dahlstrand, Mike Dunham, Bud Cunningham and Jim Brown, freshman sensation with a bright future as a Padre cager.

Friday night's 5:30 game pairs Coach Dick Lawitzke's Carmel Jayvees with Coach Jim LeBeck's Pacific Grove reserves. The Padre junior varsity is undefeated with a six-game win streak going while the PG jayvees have lost only one league game.

Saturday night, the Carmel High hoop squads travel to San Jose for return games with the Lincoln High squads. The Abes topped the Padres the first time around and looked very good doing the job. However, the Red and Gray cagers have improved tremendously during the past month and should offer the big Lincoln unit an interesting tussle.

YOUTH CENTER TIED FOR LEAD IN PG REC LEAGUE

The undefeated Carmel Youth Center basketball team forged closer to the Pacific Grove Recreation B-League championship in its last outing by downing the Monterey Elks Club, 51 to 37, to make it three straight in league play. Coach Jack Giles had his Youth Center squad switch its usual smooth pattern tactics to a run-and-shoot game in this one and the well-conditioned YC gang ran away from the Elks. Bob Wise and Bob Durbrow each collected 10 points to lead the Youth Center scorers with Charley Dawson and Dick Jennings also hitting consistently for the popular play spot.

Big game on the Youth Center schedule is set for next Tuesday night at the Pacific Grove High gym where the Navy School will furnish the YC gang with their severest test of the season. The Navy is also undefeated in league play and Tuesday night's winner will be favored to cop the B-league championship.

CARMEL CAGERS WIN KING CITY TRIPLE-HEADER

Supplied with a good example by the junior varsity which rubbed the King City jayvees, 45 to 31, Carmel's lightweight and varsity hoop squads powered to crucial league wins over the Mustangs last Friday night. The Padre Babes parlayed a 15-point shooting performance by Mike Draper and a fine all-around floor game by Jim Brown into a 39-30 win over the hard-trying KC ponies. Draper turned in his best performance in two years' of lightweight basketball and looked like a "six-foot midget" to Coach Joe Lorincz. The Little Padres broke in front at the start and enjoyed a 22-15 margin at halftime as Draper, Brown and Bud Cunningham peppered the net.

The Carmel and King City varities went into Friday night's crucial with 3-0 records for the league season with the winner assured a perch atop the league standings. King City threatened to make a runaway for all the chips in the first few minutes as the Mustangs hit their first five tries from the floor. Behind by nine points midway of the first quarter, the cool Carmel squad started to surge and closed the gap to 28-27 at half-time. With Russ Wise and Dale Dawson showing the way, the Padres forged ahead early in the third period and saluted the game away with a 14-point surge in the final quarter. The final score was 52-44 and the league-leading Carmel lads knew they had been in a hard-fought basketball game.

King City's center, Jim Glance, was the top scorer of the game, banging through 22 markers from his pivot spot. Russ Wise put 20 points on the scoreboard for the Padres and Dale Dawson chipped in with 16.

Carmel's jayvee squad enjoyed an 18-9 halftime lead and coasted to its sixth straight victory. Pat Boyle pumped in 15 points to lead all scorers in the game while Toby Edson enjoyed a good night by picking up five field goals for 10 points.

The school has nine stationary life-size "cars" lined up in front of a movie screen. Films projected on this screen have been photographed from a moving car and represent what the driver sees.

A control tower at the rear of the classroom charts the progress of each student scoring his mistakes as he drives in the driver-trainer. The classroom instruction will be conducted by Dick Lawitzke in Room 26 beginning Tuesday at 7:30 o'clock. Mrs. Patricia Edwards will take the students out in the dual-control car when they are ready.

Other classes offered include the following: Charcoal portraiture color and design, driftwood sculpture, jewelry, life drawing, machine woodworking, sketching and painting, outdoor painting, pottery, weaving, parent nursery school, English for new Americans, poetry writing, music appreciation and symphony orchestra.

For those who wish to become citizens, a new class in citizenship and U. S. History will start Tuesday at 7:30 o'clock in Room 8 at the High School with John Campbell as instructor.

A tuition fee of $1.00 per course will be charged with the exception of English for new Americans and Citizenship. Additional fees will be

No More Rental Fees At The Library But Fines Are Doubled

At the regular January meeting of the board of library trustees, the decision was made to eliminate the rental collection and make all new fiction rent free. The idea of a rental fee on new fiction was approved many years ago and has been in effect since that time. Recently a strong effort has been made to keep the rental books as a collection of duplicate copies. But patrons were unaware that by waiting they could obtain a copy rent free and it was thought that this was unfair in practice if not in theory. So as of now the rental collection is no more.

For several reasons the rate on fines is going up on February 1. From that date forward, the fines will be figured at the rate of four cents per day. As always has been the practice, fines never exceed the price of the book or magazine. The first and main reason for this action is the necessity of moving books faster. This is especially true of waiting list books. Fines of two cents a day are no deterrent to keeping a book out as long as a patron wishes, and even loaning it to a friend whose name is not on the waiting list. This is done without regard for the fact that the book has a waiting list and that people lower on the list are complaining bitterly to the desk attendant.

With books priced as high as they are today, and with shelving space at a premium as it is in this library, it is not practical to buy several extra copies of books with waiting lists unless the lists are very long. The best thing to do is to keep books moving. It is hoped that increasing the fine rate will help to do this.

The rise in fines brings the Carmel library practice more in line with that of other libraries in the area. The Monterey Public Library has charged four cents a

Water Wildlife Subject Of Audubon Screen Tour Feb. 9

The third illustrated lecture of the Audubon Screen Tour Series will be presented February 9 in Sunset Auditorium at 8:00 o'clock. It has been photographed by Karl Maslowski and is narrated by Leonard Hall, the Ozark Country naturalist, farmer, conservationist, writer, lecturer and photographer of Caledonia, Missouri.

Mr. Hall's efforts for wildlife conservation and his practices of good land use have brought him the honor of Master Conservationist and an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from his home state. He has received a Conservation Citation from the St. Louis Audubon Society, and conducts the Country Column in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

His screen tour topic is Waterway Wildlife, an interpretation of the world of wildlife, plants, soil and water in relation to human progress. The theme of this color motion picture is the dependence of man and all living creatures upon an ever-present supply of good fresh water. There are glimpses into the family life of the cottontail and the red fox, the trials and tribulations of a porpoise woodchuck, and amazing underwater shots of swimming muskrat and mink.

A new feature of this program is the presentation of the voices of such waterway dwellers as tree frogs, wood ducks, and Canada geese.

Anna Tanous

Mrs. Anna Tanous died on January 23 in her home on Dolores Street above Fifth Avenue. She was born 81 years ago in Zahia, Syria, now Lebanon, on March 22, 1877.

Mrs. Tanous came to live in Carmel 22 years ago. She is survived by nine children, seven sons and two daughters, 18 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Her sons are Michael Tanous of Mojave, George Tanous of DeWitt, Michigan; Abraham Tanous of Santa Clara, James Tanous of Vancouver, Washington; Walter Tanous of Palo Alto, Robert Tanous of Pacific Grove and Thomas Tanous of Carmel. Her daughters are Mrs. Marie Woolsey of Carmel and Mrs. Margaret Twitchell of Tacoma, Washington.

Holy Rosary was recited on Sunday evening at Mission Mortuary. Funeral services were held on Monday morning in Mission Mortuary followed by Requiem Mass at Carmel Mission. Burial was in Monterey Catholic Cemetery.

La Causerie Offers Two French Plays At The Studio

The Studio Theatre in Carmel which has been performing the Jean Anouilh fantasy, Time Remembered, on weekends throughout January, will give way to La Causerie Francaise the first weekend in February. This French group will give two performances of still another play by the same author to be done entirely in French.

This constitutes a Jean Anouilh festival with two of this French playwright's most famous plays being presented alternately at The Studio. Time Remembered, starring Ruth Warshawsky, will play this weekend, followed by Le Bal

Des Voleurs (Thieves' Carnival) the weekend of February 6 and 7. Both of these masquerades are from Anouilh's rose-colored period, and are similar in their feeling for fantasy and a fairy tale atmosphere.

Time Remembered will resume performances for two more weekends in February following the French theatre's presentation of Thieves' Carnival.

The Adult Education Poetry Workshop continues its study of poetry techniques with the advent of the new term. This workshop is designed for the beginning poet and poetry-lovers who have always wanted to know how to put their thoughts into words.

Discussions are how-to-do, centered around the structure and content of a poem—content includes the quality and sound of words, and methods for capturing emotion; and structure emphasizes the musical pattern of rhythm and rhyme and the building of regular and free forms to fit a mood or thought. Constructive analysis of individual poems stimulates through understanding.

Classes are held at the Sunset School on Monday evenings, 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock in the room to the left of the auditorium.

The Poetry Column this week features poems by members of the class.

An invitation is extended to those who wish to brush up on technique, and to those who have never written, but wish they could.

Their splendor on your Odyssey;
A hundred wave-wild storms have sped
And sealed again your mystery.*

*Only the sun and stars can show

The story of your wandering.*

*My father liked the golden pippins best
Of all the apples gathered in the fall.
The Roman Beauties, winesaps, all the rest
Were pie material, but this fragrant ball
Of gold and snow cupped in a work-quarled hand
Was trophy that a god might understand.*

*Root-cellars cold and crackling at each bite,
Their tangy flavor never quite defined,
The glowing pippins broke to show the white
Sweet-cider flesh beneath the pale gold rind.
The golden apples of Hesperides,
My father said, could not compare with these.*

Sensing each passer-by,
Knowing the world as an open book
With finger tips for his eyes.*

Carmel Artists Copy One Another Says Marlinda von Ruhs

(Continued from Page One) members of her family were killed, and she herself was forced to flee to Dusseldorf in 1942. Staying with Dutch friends of her family, she entered the Academy of Fine Arts, attempting to express her anguish, terror and sharpened views through her painting. Among her teachers here were such famed artists as Josef Piper and Junghanns—and her work progressed in leaps and bounds under the stimulus of their restless example.

Just when she thought some kind of adjustment to the peculiar life of the war had been made, Marlinda was bombed out again. This time her Dutch friends sent her to Holland, smuggling her over the border wrapped in a Persian rug like some Near Eastern princess of old.

Still unable fully to comprehend that this all was happening to her, Marlinda found herself in Amsterdam, for many months with nothing to do. She began to occupy herself by taking the motifs from the Persian carpet that covered the floor of her room, and blending them into scenes from all over the world, covered every square inch of walls and ceiling. When she had completed the task, the house was bombed and destroyed.

With things getting too difficult in Holland, her friends smuggled her over the border again and Marlinda returned to her mother's house in Vienna (her father had been killed earlier in the raids). During all this time she continued to paint, and in Vienna even resumed her studies at the Academy of Fine Arts. Painting had become a way of life by this time.

In 1945 the family returned to Salzburg for good, and Marlinda sold her first work—to the Conductor of the Leipzig Symphony orchestra. For the next few years she suddenly found herself working at all sorts of jobs to earn her living—sketching dignitaries for local Salzburg newspapers, doing stage sets, painting portraits of such notables as General Mark Clark, etc. In 1948, sponsored on a trip to the United States, she came to Berkeley.

Shortly thereafter she visited Carmel for the first time, and attracted by the witchery of the place, she settled down. Abel Warshawsky and Armin Hansen asked her to join the Carmel Art Association and, feeling that no one could have more discriminating critics, she did so. In 1951 she travelled throughout the United States for almost a year and then returned to Europe.

In 1953, America called once more and she came to New York to study at the Art Students League.

Afterwards she returned to Carmel for another stay of several years' duration. Currently Miss von Ruhs is preparing for a show at La Jolla, and illustrating books for Vantage Press, as well as for several German book houses.

On the state of art and artists in Carmel, she has several outspoken things to say. "Because Carmel is so isolated, the artists are bound to copy one another—and, unfortunately, they do."

Of current American artists, she thinks Ben Shahn and Lester Pollakoff by far the greatest. And of the great classic painters, she feels that Rembrandt is unparalleled with El Greco, Velasquez, Ribera and Zurbaran among the most inspiring.

"The outstanding lack in American artistic life today," claims Marlinda, "is the lack of a positive or creative avante-garde such as is often found in European countries." One of the things that has puzzled her on the international art scene of recent years, incidentally, has been why the Russians, who have taken to competing with the rest of the world in everything from sports to automobile production, have been unable to develop any younger painters of note.

Her last decade in the United States has seen great changes in American life, says Miss von Ruhs. America has at last been leaving its pioneer stage, and with this leaving has come a hunger for the fine arts, together with a searching for roots and a past. That is particularly noticeable on both coasts.

Together with this has come a tendency to substitute the use of mechanical gadgets for the use of one's head, she laughs. Finally, there is the utter confusion of values in American life today, she notes. No one seems to be certain as to what exactly his place in society is, and no one has, therefore, any sense of security. To a European, who feels that the idea of caste or rank does not always bring unhappiness, but can also bring contentment and security, this constant striving for place sometimes looks pitiable, she adds.

Finally, the extent and depth of race prejudice in the United States is shocking to a European, Marlinda says bluntly. In this there has been some progress, but not nearly enough and not nearly fast enough for the good of the United States.

TOASTMASTERS FINALS WEDNESDAY

Howard Reed qualified for the Carmel Toastmaster's speech contests finals by winning over his opponents, Richard Brown and Robert Green, at the meeting held last night at Tom's Cafe. He will join previous winners Bert Davis, Hal Funk and Clem Trapkus. The finals are arranged to be held next Wednesday evening at the Navy School and the winner will represent the Carmel organization against other club winners. This will be a ladies' night meeting.

Clem Trapkus was the toastmaster last night, Dr. Funk conducted table topics and Ted Minnies was the evaluator.

as a whole, she notes grimly. These impressions may not be what Americans like to hear, Miss von Ruhs says with a wry grin, but they are the way things look to a European—and a friendly one at that.

Music On The Peninsula

BY MARY LINDSAY-OLIVER

The Carmel Chamber Music Society presented the second concert of the present season at the Woman's Club Sunday afternoon. It was one of the most interestingly varied programs so far arranged by Director Gilbert Boyer. The Chamber Orchestra is made up of 15 our local artist instrumentalists. Eiko Yoshizato, Fred Herrman, David Hagemeyer, H. M. M. Nicholas, Charlotte Perry and Sheila Webster, violins; Lorell McCann, Marie Sale, Louise Vadetsky, violas; Edwin Culver, bass; Emil La Chambre, oboe; Joseph and Betty Axup, French horns, and Margaret Aitkenhead, piano.

For the opening Overture to Venus and Adonis Suite by old English composer, Dr. John Blow, Joseph Axup wielded the baton. It made a pleasing opening in the simpler, melodic string constructions of the 17th century, — the Maestoso and Allegro con brio in the earlier form and tempi on which concerto movements have generously been built. Vivaldi's Concerto in A minor for Two Violins and String Orchestra followed, with H. M. M. Nicholas and Fred W. Herrman in the solo parts, conducted by Boyer. Its three movements, typical of Bach's contemporary, gave plenty of opportunity to all players, while both soloists delivered excellent performances. They complimented each other, Herrman in graceful poise of routined playing, and Nicholas in passionately romantic intensity. In sharp contrast to the Vivaldi, a modern Hindemith Sonata for Flute and Piano was offered by Raymond and Margaret Fabrizio. Their handling of the difficult harmonic construction was balanced by flutist and pianist admirably throughout Hindemith's flights of exotic sounds that seem more extemporary than deliberately composed.

After intermission, a brass quartet of Joseph and Betty Axup, French horns; Terry MacCormack, trumpet, and Ted Hanson, trombone, delivered a Motet by Fifteenth century Jacob Obrecht and Two Fantasies by Sixteenth century Adriano Banchieri. It was another interesting contrast to the rest of the program.

Climaxing these unusual offerings came the Boccherini Concerto for Cello and Orchestra with Mary Dobel as soloist. Her playing exhibits a truly musical nature, for coupled to an adequate technique, this young artist performed the two cadenzas in the work with brilliancy and a deep feeling for tonal beauty.

Boyer announced an extra concert would be given for the Society's supporters who include many of our leading music patrons.

Important announcement has just arrived from Secretary Helen Thompson of the American Symphony League that the two-week

Diana Darms will be soprano soloist when Occidental College Glee Clubs give their third concert here, sponsored by the Carmel Kiwanis Club, in Sunset Auditorium on February 7 at 8:00 o'clock in the evening. Before the performance, at 7:00 o'clock, there will be a reunion of Occidental graduates in Sunset School cafeteria and after the concert a dance is planned for the 45 members of the glee clubs.

Howard Swan is director of the Occidental choral groups. He is the author of Music in the Southwest and chairman of the department of music at Occidental.

Conductors' and Composers' Workshop this year at Asilomar will be extended by five days on July 12 for choosing and making tape recordings of contemporary compositions. To encourage and project the American composer is one of the basic purposes of the League which, under grants from the Rockefeller Foundation, is now extending internationally. Scores selected by the committee will be recorded mainly for study as to future possible performances.

Symphony Auditions For Young Soloists To Be Held Monday

The Monterey County Symphony, under the direction of Gregory Millar, announces that auditions for young music students (16 years old and under) will be held on Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the Music Room of Carmel High School.

From those participating in the audition, one boy or girl will be selected for solo participation with the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra at the Children's Symphony Concert to be presented at Sunset Auditorium, Carmel, at 3:00 o'clock.

The auditions are open to any music student in the above age group. They are not limited to piano. A student of any musical instrument is eligible.

Participants will be asked to play one movement of a concerto of their own choice from the works of Bach, Haydn, Mozart or Beethoven.

The program for the Children's Symphony Concert is: First movement from Schubert's 8th (Unfinished) Symphony, one movement of a concerto by Bach, Haydn, Mozart or Beethoven with a student soloist, and the Young Person's Guide to the Orchestra by Benjamin Britten.

Christian Science Lecturer Speaks Of Power Of Prayer

Scientific prayer is bringing increasing numbers of people healing, comfort and reformation. Richard L. Glendon of Los Angeles said in a public lecture here last Friday evening.

The vital power of effective prayer, promised in the Bible, is available to all, impartially, Mr. Glendon declared.

On nationwide tour as a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship, Mr. Glendon spoke under the auspices of First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Carmel, in the church edifice, Monte Verde Street, near Sixth Avenue. He was introduced by Mrs. Florence K. Payne, First Reader.

Christ Jesus, he said, knew that it was his spiritual understanding of God that enabled him to accomplish his mighty works.

"He devoted his ministry and sacrificed his human life in the effort to teach others this wonderful truth that saves, heals, and comforts," he declared.

Mr. Glendon pointed out the danger of personalizing the healing power of effective prayer.

"You, who are familiar with the Bible," he said, "will recall that there was always the tendency of the people to personalize this power, to see it as God's special dispensation to some particular individual. The result was that they failed to grasp the all-important fact that this power of true prayer is available to all, impartially."

He held that the Comforter promised by Christ Jesus (John 14:16) is available today to teach mankind how to pray as Jesus prayed.

The prayer that reforms the sinner and heals the sick is an absolute faith that all things are possible to God—a spiritual understanding of Him, an unselfed love," he said, quoting from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy.

In concluding his lecture, he emphasized that the healing Comforter promised by Christ Jesus has come.

"The Comforter," he said, "is the Science of Life as taught and demonstrated by Jesus. This Science, or Christ, Truth, has been revealed to this age as Christian Science. Being Science, it can be understood and proved. By enabling us to better understand God, it renders our prayers effective."

He added: "It reveals the true meaning of salvation as the destruction of sin, disease, and death through the understanding and demonstration of divine Life, Love and Truth. It makes it possible for you, and me, to experience this glorious awakening today."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

How spiritual understanding of God as divine Love promotes true brotherhood will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

Scriptural selections to be read in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Love" include this one (I John 4:21): "And this commandment have we from him, That he who loveth God love brother also."

Readings from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include the following (518:15): "The rich in spirit help the poor in one grand brotherhood, all having the same Principle, or Father; and blessed is that man who seeth his brother's need and supplieth it, seeking his own in another's good."

The Golden Text is from (I John 4:8): "He that loveth not knoweth not God; for God is love."

La Malaguena's Concert Includes Fiesta Dances

Typical dances of the annual fiestas in Spain will be performed by La Malaguena, celebrated dancer, in her Flamenco Rhythms concert at Sunset Auditorium, Carmel, February 6, at 8:30 o'clock with Rafael, guitar virtuoso.

From Malaga's Winter Carnival, La Malaguena dances Chulfa, a gypsy theme in the Carmen Amaya tradition. Her Leyenda del Beso, a number with tambourine, is from the Torremolinos Dance Festival.

Performed atop a granadilla table only 18 inches square, her Farruca is offered exactly as in the bodegas during the Wine Fiesta.

Valenciana, comic flower vendor's dance from the Saint Joseph Day celebrations, El Gato Montes, bullfighter's dance from the Pamplona Pageant, and Zambra Mora, finger cymbal dance from the Cordoba Fiesta, also are scheduled.

Rafael's guitar solos include Semana Santa, with drum effects and fanfare from Holy Week Procession in Sevilla, Sitio de Zaragoza, from the Fiesta of Our Lady of Pillar, and Memorials de Manolito, from the fabulous Feria de Huelva.

He also sings ancient Moorish chants, to his own accompaniment on the laud, 12-string gypsy instrument.

Emma Fenston

Emma Fenston of Carmel and Fresno, widow of Earl J. Fenston, lawyer, newspaperman and regent of the University of California, died on January 24 in a San Francisco hospital after a long illness.

Mrs. Fenston was born in Coalinga 65 years ago. She spent most of her life in Fresno and with her husband, who died a year ago, maintained a summer home here on Carmelo Street.

Survivors are two sons, Dr. Earl Fenston of San Francisco and James Fenston of Fresno; a sister-in-law, Mrs. James B. Finley of Carmel, and four grandsons.

Norah Forwood

Miss Norah Forwood died on Sunday in a local rest home after a long period of failing health. She had lived in Carmel for two years.

Miss Forwood was born in England on September 27, 1865. She spent her youth in Bermuda, came to the United States 70 years ago, lived most of the time since in Los Angeles, then made her home in Hillsdale for a short period before moving to Carmel.

She is survived by a nephew, Stanley Forwood of Pasadena; and three nieces, Mrs. George Lyle and Mrs. Margaret Williams of Carmel and Sister Anna Maria, O.P., of Oakland.

Private funeral services were held on Tuesday in the Dorney and Farlinger Memorial Chapel. Burial was in Forest Lawn Memorial Park, Colma.

IF DEL MONTE TO CONTINUE

Frankly, we are making this improvement as an experiment to find out if enough additional business can be attracted to the train to support the continued operation of the service. Unfortunately, the number of people using the Del Monte has declined steadily, and the constantly increasing costs of providing the service now far exceed revenues. We hope that this trend can be reversed and the large annual financial loss eliminated, thus permitting us to continue operation of the Del Monte.

Bardarson Family Reunion

A letter from Mrs. Gertrude Bardarson whose late husband was principal of Sunnyside School for many years, and the first principal of Carmel High School at the time of his death, tells Carmel friends that she has returned to Seattle to live after three years in Denver, Colorado.

Mrs. Bardarson arrived in Seattle in time for a Christmas Eve Swedish family celebration at the home of her younger son, Linne. Also at the party were Linne's wife, Dot, and their two children; Dr. Baird Bardarson, his wife, Peggy, and their three children; and Cecil Bullock, principal of Roosevelt High School in Seattle, and Mrs. Bullock, who are the parents of Mrs. Linne Bardarson.

Dr. Baird Bardarson, Mrs. Bardarson writes, is practicing medicine in Renton, Washington, a suburb of Seattle. It is the town in which his father began his teaching career 37 years ago, and Baird tells his mother that many of his patients are former pupils and friends of his father.

Linne is in his junior year at the University of Washington and five months each year skippers a boat in Alaskan Waters.

Mrs. Bardarson also writes of her delight in being back in Seattle, reunited with her sons and their families after the years she spent away from them in Denver.

Travel Talk At Town House

On Wednesday at the Carmel Foundation Town House, General Robert P. Williams of Carmel will talk about his trip by cruiser to Norwegian fjords and to Moorish Spain, and will show color slides which he took. The program begins at 3:00 o'clock and will be followed by tea and a social hour.

Woman's Club to Hear N.Y. Hits

Current Broadway plays and hits from musical shows will be sketched and sung by Mrs. Leona Mourtan Nelson for members of the Carmel Woman's Club at the general meeting February 2. Musician and teller of tales, Mrs. Nelson does not have to omit the music to which she refers—she sings it. She adds to the subject matter of her program charm, vivid personality and sparkling platform manner—and also the aid of an excellent accompanist.

A native of Portland, Oregon, Mrs. Nelson's musical studies began there. They continued in New York, where she appeared on concert platform and stage. At the conservatory in Fontainebleau, France, her formal musical education was completed. She then spent some time in Hollywood, where she not only filled her own roles, but supplied the voice for many a voiceless singer. In San Francisco she appeared with the San Francisco Opera Company.

After several years of travel with her husband, a petroleum geologist, in Europe, South America and the Dutch East Indies, she embarked on a program of travelogues and unique presentation of the outstanding shows on Broadway.

There will be an hour for tea and conversation after the program, which will be in charge of the hospitality chairman, Mrs. Samuel B. Moore, assisted by Mrs. L. E. Kinsler, Mrs. A. P. Wright, Mrs. F. P. Puzick, Mrs. Abbott Silva, Mrs. John Schroder, Mrs. E. M. Beecher, Miss Ollie Lind, Miss Constance Post and Mrs. C. U. Fontenaeau.

Sunset Pupils' P.T.A. Contest

Sunset Leaders, headed by outgoing student body president Honey Williams, are holding an inter-class contest this week to obtain as many P.T.A. memberships as possible. The Leaders group is asking each Sunset student to get one membership, with a prize for the class or classes first attaining the contest objective. Leaders were asked for aid in this matter by the P.T.A.

Leaders assisting Honey Williams in running the contest are outgoing student body officers: vice president Bob Moffatt; secretary Sue Mason; treasurer, Cindy Knapp; captain of corridors, Tom Faia; captain of traffic, Walt Prowell; chairman of lost and found, Daphne Dennis; chairman of publicity, Susan Baldwin; chairman of Red Cross, Ovilee Groom; chairman of grounds, John Aiken; chairman of cafeteria, Steven Smith, and sports manager, Pete Conway.

Morses Open New Home

Mr. and Mrs. S. F. B. Morse opened their new home at River Ranch in Carmel Valley with a luncheon party on Sunday. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Osborne, Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Leonard, Mr. and Mrs. J. Arch Butts, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. William Wallace Mein, Jr., Lucius Beebe and Charles Clegg. Mr. Beebe and Mr. Clegg are living in their private railroad car while visiting the Peninsula.

Valerie Ann Ewig First Child

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley E. Ewig are parents for the first time. Their daughter, Valerie Ann, was born at the Peninsula Community Hospital on Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Her birth weight was six pounds, seven ounces.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Ewig of Carmel are Valerie's grandparents and she has two uncles, David McIntosh of Corte Madera and Gordon Ewig of San Jose.

Harris Enjoying Retirement

"We have time for things that we haven't been able to do for years, such as fixing up the inside of the house," says Mrs. J. E. Harris, who with her husband, is enjoying retirement. For the past 23 years Mr. Harris has owned and operated the Shell station at the Southeast corner of San Carlos Street and Seventh Avenue and for 13 years Mrs. Harris has assisted him. Now they are "having fun" and fixing up their home at San Carlos and Tenth.

Five Tree Removal Requests On Council Tour Agenda Tuesday

Tree removal (dangerous) — Camino Real, southwest of Ocean Avenue. Charles and Lillian Catalan ask removal of pine tree remaining on site where another tree fell earlier. Threat to property.

Tree removal (traffic obstruction) — Junipero, 125 feet northwest of Sixth Street. Superintendent asks permission to remove damaged oaks obstructing traffic flow and parking.

Tree removal (obstruction) — Northeast corner of Mission and Fifth (lot 20, block 49). Philip G. Preble petitions for removal to facilitate traffic movement and access to motel.

Tree removal (dangerous) — Santa Rita and Fifth Street. Superintendent asks authorization of removal of two pines on northwest corner, one pine on the northeast corner.

Tree removal (hazardous) — Monterey between First and Second, (lot 15, block 18). Mrs. Henry F. Greenwood petitions for removal of pine tree "frequently rammed" by trucks and weakened thereby. May blow down.

Said special meeting shall convene on Tuesday, February 3, at 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon in the council chamber of the city hall, and will thereafter adjourn from place to place as pointed out. The council then will reconvene for the purpose of acting on the petitions.

Sunset GRA Initiation Banquet

Thirty-three seventh and eighth grade girls became members of Sunset School Girls' Recreation Association at an initiation banquet on Monday evening.

Mrs. Beatrice Wiegman, girls' physical education teacher, sponsors the GRA after school sports program. All seventh and eighth grade girls are eligible for GRA membership if they fulfill attendance and good sportsmanship qualifications. A girl is allowed three absences from program events and may miss a fourth if she "makes up" the deficiency.

Monday's banquet was the second GRA social event this year. First was a box-auction supper for fathers and their daughters. The fathers bid for gaily-decorated supper boxes. Proceeds provide awards for the GRA program.

Awards presented after initiation on Monday were first award pins for new members and second and third award stars for members already in the organization.

Third award stars were given to Ruth Ameil, Sue Baldwin and Lynn Nelson. Second award stars to Marilyn Cole, Diena Farr, Diane Flynn, Sue Mason, Ronnie Sue Riefel and Bianca Schneider.

Membership pins were given to Sandy Abersold, Mary Brown, Suzanne Byrne, Martha Campbell, Carolyn Cottrell, Daphne Dennis, Danny Lou Duygou, Kathy Fiske, Pat Garvey, Willa Gerber, Kay Goulding, Sue Hertzberg, Michele Judge, Ann Keehle, Sally Leonard, Jean McEwen, Holly McCulloch, Jane Martin, Diane Miller, Phyllis Pilone, Jane Putnam, Sue Rennels, Diane Sampson, Marianne Seaver, Becky Steele, Robin Strosnider, Meriel Templeton, Diane Thomas, Kreigh Trevett, Sherrie Wilson, Ann Woodward, Andrea Wurzmann and Danielle Varlay.

The chicken dinner was prepared by the cafeteria staff under the direction of Mrs. F. J. Sieve. "Screamingly-hilarious initiation activities" followed, according to Mrs. Wiegman, then awards were presented.

Initiates closed the evening's activities with a program which included a ballad, Night of Initiation, composed and sung in close harmony to the tune of Chopsticks by Susan Byrne and Jane Putnam and a pantomime parody on Monday evening TV fights by petite Ann Keeble.

Citizens Group To Aid School Housing Study

The school board agreed on the citizens committee and portioning the membership according to areas as Dr. Morphet suggested but hesitated about the nominating committee procedure for selecting the committee. The board decided to hold an executive session February 9 to discuss whether it would not be better to appoint the citizens committee themselves.

The board felt it could not wait for the survey to purchase 10 acres for school site at Carmel, and instructed Superintendent Stuart Mitchell to tell the property owners that they would send some real estate brokers to make a price estimate.

The study, as explained by Dr. Morphet, will be primarily concerned with the development of a comprehensive school plant program and will cover the following areas, subject to additions and deletions through discussion and mutual agreement:

Population Projections. An analysis of population and school population trends in various parts of the district and in the district as a whole; estimates of trends during the next 10 years.

Organization for Schools. Analysis of the existing organization with proposals as to whether the board should continue the existing organization, or should adopt some other plan.

School Center Site Location and Utilization. Permanent elementary and secondary school centers will be identified and proposals submitted regarding site locations and utilizations.

Administrative Center. Consideration will be given to the administrative needs, organization, and housing requirements during coming years.

Building Needs and Costs. Based on the study of population trends, and prospective developments and other pertinent information, building needs will be projected for a reasonable period of years.

Miscellaneous. A brief study will be made of business administration, of the problem involving junior college students, and other related matters.

A brief report comprising the equivalent of 20 or more single-spaced mimeograph pages will be prepared, with sections devoted to the above areas and any others that seem appropriate. This report will include not only the most pertinent date, analysis, and conclusions but appropriate recommendations for all areas. Fifty copies of this report will be made available to the board.

The study will be completed and the report presented to the board by July 1, 1959.

The study is to be conducted by the Field Service Center, Department of Education, University of California, Berkeley. The staff will work with the staff of the school system, with any citizens committees established by the board for this study, and with the board in planning and conducting the study.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

Ruth Galvin Thornburg, Librarian

Something pleasant is always happening to us here at the library. The other day one of our patrons came in to say that she loved the library and wanted to do something for it. She had been saving silver dollars and had collected 30 of them. So she handed over 30 silver dollars in a heap for us to use as we think best, and we loved her for it. Anonymous, she wanted to be, and so she shall be but we know her name. Thank you, Anonymous. Thanks also for generous gifts of money for books are due Mrs. H. Lowenhaupt and Mrs. L. P. Saunders. It is heart-warming for people to give gifts to their community through the medium of their public library.

We shall have two copies of Beloved Infidel by Sheila Graham. Ours is ready now and the county copy should be here soon. There is a short waiting list for them but with two copies we shall breeze through that in no time. This is Miss Graham's life story from the time she was a small girl in an English orphanage, through her early Pygmalion years, until her last companionship with F. Scott Fitzgerald.

The late Peter Freuchen's last book is entitled I Sailed With Rasmussen. This is not a biography of Rasmussen, but rather an interesting recounting of the association of two men and some of their adventures during their fourteen years together. The book notes that some of the episodes told here are also mentioned in Peter Freuchen's other book, Arctic Adventure!

The press of the University of Michigan has recently published a great work, The History of the Modern World, in four volumes. Each volume was done by an authority in the particular field of history. One volume is entitled The Far East, the second is The Near East, the third is Latin America and the last is called Russia and the Soviet Union. Allan Nevins edited the four volumes. They have been cataloged as separates and thus will not be shelved together, but as a whole they cover the troubled parts of our world, and should provide meaty reading for the person interested in world history.

This library is trying to add good material on the subject of the mentally retarded child. There are many such children in this area and their devoted parents are faced with ever-changing problems in raising and training them. Two books have come to us and at least one more is on order. The two we have now are The Mentally Retarded Child by Hutt and Gibby, and Early Education of the Mentally Retarded by Kirk. The Kirk book is mainly one of case histories. The one by Hutt and Gibby seems to this librarian to be easier to read, and a little more practical in application. No doubt interested people should have a look at both of them and take helpful information from both.

On the other side, we have a book composed of the opinions of 11 college seniors who were approached as to their reactions to the current wave of feeling about their generation, their lives, their future, their ideals. There is much food for thought in this volume. It is called The Unsilent Generation, and it was edited by Otto Butz. It is possible that this should be required reading for every parent of young children.

Food for thought, the supplying of which is one function of a public library.

Planners Approve Gas Pumps For Fenton Plaza, Bank Of America Bldg.

(Continued from Page One) Blanks seconded the motion. One commissioner voted "no," Mrs. Jessie MacGregor. The accessory station will have gasoline pumps, sell oil, tires, batteries. There will be lubrication racks and car washing facilities.

Previous to the vote, Commissioner Florence Josselyn remarked, "We must decide what is for the good of Carmel." She queried whether or not the hidden parking in Carmel Plaza was more advisable than landscaped ground-level parking which might be developed by an owner of the block. "We can't help but consider what we are getting," she said, referring to the 171 hidden spaces in Carmel Plaza Company's plans. She remarked that a supermarket was a possible development in the C-1 zone. "We must decide which is the better. Change is not always progress but we are having change," she concluded.

Commissioner Herbert Blanks stated commissioners could not consider economics. This was in answer to Dale Leidig, Gordon Campbell, Eben Whittlesey and Thomas Montgomery who protested a seventh gas station in the immediate area of Carmel Plaza. Mr. Blanks said commissioners were sworn to uphold existing laws and decide whether or not a gas station was an accessory use.

Commissioner Lee Gottfried thought the large amount of off-street parking provided and the location of the gas station inside a building were important factors.

Commissioner Hugh Smith concurred in this opinion and added that the public is not encouraged to use gas stations inside both a building area and a building when other stations exist nearby.

Commissioner Keeble thought the inside location and number of pumps, four in this case, the benefit of underground parking, the fact that the station was not visible from the street and that a precedent was not being established were points meriting consideration.

When commissioners convened as a commission they granted a building permit to Carmel Plaza Company to construct a one-story building on two lots on Mission Street for a bank and three medical offices with four off-street parking spaces; allowed Comstock Associates to stucco the rear of a storage shed on their premises on Torres Street between Fifth and Sixth Avenues; recommended to the city council that Carmel Savings and Loan Association have a sign on the north side of their building at Dolores and Seventh Streets and to change the sign on the front of the same building; also recommended to the council replacement of signs for the Standard Oil Company at Mission and Fifth Streets and Ocean and San Carlos. They continued the matter of park zoning requested by Francis Whitaker and agreed to render a decision within 30 days on Robert Stanton's request for a restaurant or food sales store in Normandy Inn and referred tree planting in city-owned Block 12 to the new Forestry Commission.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone.

4 Carmel High Girls Nominated For AFS Student Exchange

Juniors Liz van Loben Sels, Jennifer Hill, Ellen McKelvey and Ethel Prowell were chosen from 13 applicants to be Carmel High School's American Field Service nominees this year. Their applications were forwarded to the AFS central office in New York yesterday. Whether any or all of them are chosen to spend this summer in a foreign country will be known in March. Students chosen for the AFS student exchange summer program live as a member of a family in the country to which they are sent. They travel overseas together with selectees from all over the United States in specially-chartered ships.

In order to nominate AFS exchange students, Carmel High School must arrange to have a foreign student spend a school year here. Students raise the necessary funds to bring the foreign student to Carmel. The family with whom the exchange student lives provides board and room. Other expenses are assumed by the student body.

The four girls chosen to be AFS representatives this year were selected by a committee composed of students, faculty, townspeople and last year's AFS selectee.

Mothers' March Starts Here Tuesday In Daylight Hours

Carmel mothers will collect donations for the March of Dimes fund drive on Tuesday evening. Some are calling at homes from 5:00-6:00 o'clock in the evening, others from 7:00-8:00. Proceeds this year will support the National Foundation's attack on virus disease, arthritis and birth defects, as well as continuing obligations to poliomyelitis sufferers as in former years. The Mothers' March in Carmel last year raised $1,700.

A lighted porch light is the signal for Carmel mothers to call for March of Dimes contributions. All those wishing to donate are asked to follow this custom as in past years. The two Mothers' March hours, instead of one, are arranged as some mothers prefer to call while it is still light and think that Carmel residents also prefer the earlier hour in most districts.

"It's not that they want to be different," stresses Mrs. Tweed Champo, chairman of this year's Mothers' March.

Girl In Don Cummings Family

Laura Ann, first daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Cummings of Carmel Valley, weighed seven pounds, 14 ounces when she was born at the Peninsula Community Hospital on January 22. She has two brothers, Gary, five years old, and David, two and a half. Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Cummings, Sr., of Robles del Rio and Mr. and Mrs. William Green, of Rio del Mar.

Louise Busic Delegate

Louise Busic of Village Hardware will be a delegate to the 58th Annual Convention and Show of the California Retail Hardware Association in San Francisco, February 8-10. The show will be held at Brooks Exhibit Hall, Civic Center, with convention headquarters at the Whitcomb Hotel.

Adm. Fisher Mails Letters Protecting Carmel Plaza Plans

(Continued from Page One) zoned as such: one at the entrance to Carmel Valley on Highway 1, and the other, the Del Monte Center where Soledad Drive meets Highway 1. We feel that the overall view of future conditions definitely indicates that the choice of such other locations would be most consistent with far sighted business judgment.

Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Broaddus also addressed a letter to Leslie Fenlon: "We emphatically do not want any more chain stores, or branches of big business with headquarters elsewhere, and we want no more motels, hotels, liquor outlets, service stations, etc."

That the Carmel Planning Commission is not entirely in sympathy with the stand of the Citizens' Committee is indicated by their decision yesterday afternoon when they ruled that gas pumps in the proposed underground parking area of Carmel Plaza were an accessory use to the parking. This makes it possible for Union Oil to sell gas, oil, tires, etc., in an area zoned against service stations. The commission also approved plans for a building to house Bank of America until the one can be constructed for them on the Fenton Plaza.

CARMEL COACHES ATTEND STANFORD BASEBALL CLINIC

Carmel High School Coach George Mosolf and Junior Varsity Coach Dan Yurkovich plan to attend the Annual Stanford University Baseball Clinic at Palo Alto on February 7.

Jackie Jensen, Most Valuable Player in the American League last year, and fondly remembered by University of California Alumni for his football and baseball prowess, will head the clinic all-star staff which will include Murphy Ruell, Bob Fontaine, Roy Johnson, Babe Pinelli, Dolph Camille. Indian Coach Dutch Fehring will direct operations. Registration is scheduled for 8:30 o'clock in Cubberley Auditorium.

The afternoon session, starting at 1:30, will be on Stanford's Sunken Diamond and is to be devoted to field demonstrations. Director Dutch Fehring is preparing to welcome an even bigger attendance than the 550 who attended last year's clinic. Mosolf and Yurkovich attended two years ago.
